REV. RICHARD P. WILLIAMS.

Rev. Richard P. Williams, rector of Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, who recently celebrated the tenth anniversary of his pastorship, is a representative of the orthodox, conservative Episcopal divines. Under his guidance Trinity Church, one of the oldest and most firmly established in the city, has held to the simple ceremonies and maintained the religious worship which has always charsimple ceremonies and maintained the religious worship which has always characterized the congregation. Mr. Williams was born in New Orleans in 1855. After the war he attended the College of the City of New York, from which he was graduated with the degree of B. S. For fifteen years he was engaged in business on Wall street, but a decided inclination toward the ministry forced itself on him and he went to Richmond, where, after four years of study, he was ordained priest. His first pastorate was the Church of Holy Comforter, in Montgomery, Ala., where he remained until 1897, when he came to this city. Mr. Williams, besides being a thirty-third degree Mason, holds a number of important offices in the Diocese of Washington, being the archdeacon of the convocation, a williams, besides being a thirty-third degree Mason, holds a number of important offices in the Diocese of Washington, being the archdeacon of the convocation, a delegate to the general convention of the church, secretary of the American Church Institute for Negroes, treasurer of the Association for Works of Mercy, and a member of the executive committee of the Episcopal Eye, Ear, and Throat Hospital. The Trinity Church has lately been freed of a debt of $18,600, and both the parish and its numerous associations are in a flowledge. and both the parish and its numerous organizations are in a flourishing condition.
